Please Join Our Community

Welcome! The area of the site you are trying to enter is part of the Community Network. By entering, you agree to abide by the user agreement, and that other community members will be able to see the information on your profile that is not hidden.

User Agreement:
Announcements
Members may occasionally use Networking Communities for announcements of noncommercial publications and other resources of general interest to other subscribers. The subject line should clearly identify the topic of the message; the message body should be kept short and should contain contact information for more details. The appropriate medium for announcements of conferences and events is through the Conferences & Events web site. Contact Conference Services at conferences@cccw.org for details.

Endorsements and Advertising
Endorsements are acceptable if made in the context of a request for information or sharing of an experience. Please note that unsolicited commercial communications to Networking Communities violate the endorsement and advertising provisions of these guidelines and may result in the loss of access to the Networking Community in question.

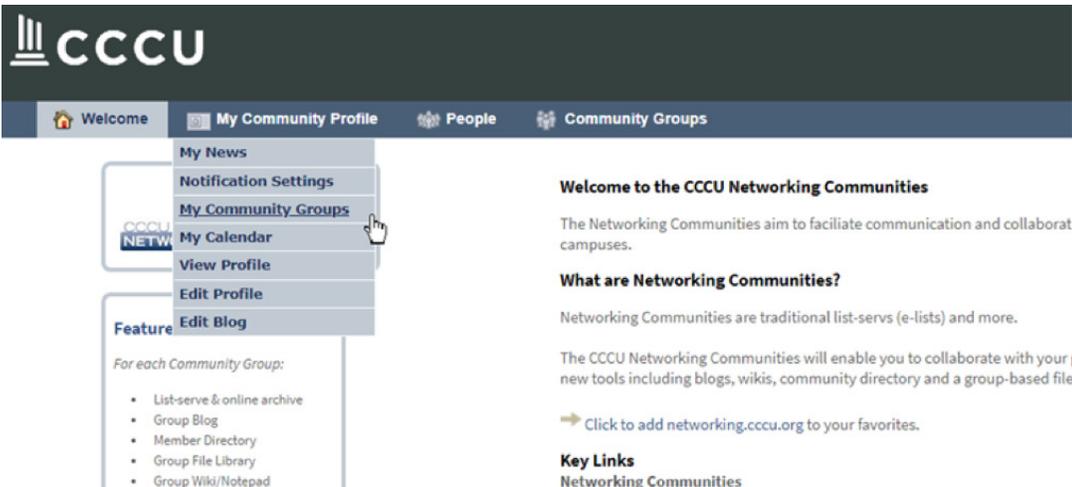

Job Postings
The CCCU maintains a Career Center web resource to which members may post job openings; all interested parties are welcome to browse the listings. Job postings should not be posted to the Networking Communities.

Welcome to the CCCU Networking Communities

The Networking Communities aim to facilitate communication and collaborate campuses.

What are Networking Communities?

Networking Communities are traditional list-servs (e-lists) and more.

The CCCU Networking Communities will enable you to collaborate with your new tools including blogs, wikis, community directory and a group-based file

Select “Recent Messages” to catch up on previous messages from this networking group. To send a new message to the entire group, select either “Email from Web” or “Email from Mail Program” in the left column under “Send Email.”

The default setting for participants is to receive all networking group messages via email. To update this (you may opt out of receiving emails and instead elect to only view messages online), scroll further down the page to “My Community Group Settings” under “Community Group Details” and then select “Edit.”
